CKEditor: The Rich-Text Editor in Sakai

Part 4 of 4: Hyperlinks
CKEditor Tutorial - Part 4

Working with Hyperlinks
Basic Elements of Rich-Text

- Text
  - Paragraphs
  - Headings
  - Lists
    - Numbered
    - Bulleted

- Images

- Hyperlinks
Basic Elements of Rich-Text

- Text
  - Paragraphs
  - Headings
  - Lists
    - Numbered
    - Bulleted

- Images

- Hyperlinks

Part 4
What can I hyperlink to using CKEditor?

- Any website outside Sakai with a stable URL is fine.
- Link only to the following items in Sakai:
  - Sakai site
  - Items in the tool menu (e.g., Assignments tool)
  - Items stored in Resources
- Do not link to items in other Sakai sites.
  - Students will likely not have access to those items.
Read the following articles:

- https://drive.google.com/a/plu.edu/file/d/0BzP2MthuJqqQODQxMDgZTMtNWVkZC00ZGQyLTg0MDktZTQ4QWQzOWFhYWMx/view
Create Hyperlinks from Readable Text

Read the following articles:

- Sustainable development is failing but there are alternatives to capitalism
- Business Executive: The Right to Growth (Finnish text)
Link Targets

Use New Window for most links.

Use Topmost Window for moving from one tool to another in Sakai.
Religion 224: Lutheran Heritage

Welcome! This course is an introduction to the origins, core convictions, practices, and ethical commitments of the Christian reform movement which takes its name from the 16th century university professor, priest, and reformer, Martin Luther. In this course, you will explore the Lutheran understanding of the “founder” of Christianity (i.e., Jesus of Nazareth), the community which claims his name (i.e., the Christian community or church), the central text (the Bible), central rituals, and the ethical commitments which flow from all those elements just mentioned.

Please proceed to the course syllabus to begin. If you have questions, feel free to email me.
Example Sakai Site Home Page

Worksite Information panel
Religion 224: Lutheran Heritage

Welcome! This course is an introduction to the origins, core convictions, practices, and ethical commitments of the Christian reform movement which takes its name from the 16th century university professor, priest, and reformer, Martin Luther. In this course, you will explore the Lutheran understanding of the "founder" of Christianity (i.e., Jesus of Nazareth), the community which claims his name (i.e., the Christian community or church), the central text (the Bible), central rituals, and the ethical commitments which flow from all those elements just mentioned.

Please proceed to the course syllabus to begin. If you have questions, feel free to email me.

course syllabus
Copy the URL for tool menu item to the clipboard.
Create a hyperlink for the URL & set the target to Topmost Window.
Lutheran Heritage Fall 2015

Religion 224: Lutheran Heritage

Welcome! This course is an introduction to the origins, core convictions, practices, and ethical commitments of the Christian reform movement which takes its name from the 16th century university professor, priest, and reformer, Martin Luther. In this course, you will explore the Lutheran understanding of the "founder" of Christianity (i.e., Jesus of Nazareth), the community which claims his name (i.e., the Christian community or church), the central text (the Bible), central rituals, and the ethical commitments which flow from all those elements just mentioned.

Please proceed to the course syllabus to begin. If you have questions, feel free to email me.
How to Link to Tool Menu Items

Lutheran Heritage: Course Syllabus

Religion 224, Fall 2015

instructor

MWF 9:15-10:20 Admin 204A2
Office hours: MON 1:00-3:30, WED 2:00-3:30, FRI 1:30-2:30 and by appointment

Office:

An overview of what to expect in this course:

1. Why should anyone bother with the study of religion?
2. What is this course about?
3. What shapes our historical study of the Lutheran heritage and western Christianity?
4. What will you read in this course?
5. What will we do in this course?
6. How will your grade be determined in this course?
7. How should you interact with other students in this course?
8. What is my commitment to you, the student?

Course Schedule